Stimulation current and eroticism

Stimulating current is becoming more and more popular, because this kind of stimulation is incredibly fascinating and produces intense sensations. Electric stimulation is harmless as long as you apply it with high-quality products and care.

 You should always keep a few things in mind when handling stimulating current:

- Persons with electronic or metal implants (e.g. pacemakers) may not use stimulating current without consulting their physician first. The same applies for persons with heart defects or arrhythmia.
- Never let stimulating current flow through your heart or brain. Never stimulate the larynx or throat region. Muscle spasms in this region may cause suffocation.
- Stimulating current devices may not be used around explosive or inflammable materials.
- Stimulating current may not be applied during pregnancy.
- Stimulating current may only be applied on healthy skin.
- Keep away from children.
- Only use original Mystim accessories.

Magic Gloves - Instructions & care

Mystim Magic Gloves are a perfect toy for electrosex beginners and ideal for erotic massages.

In order to stimulate any body area you touch, you have to isolate your hands against the electrical impulses first. Please use one of the five pairs of vinyl gloves which are included in the scope of delivery. Now put your Magic Gloves above the vinyl gloves, and ensure that they don't overlap the vinyl gloves at your arms. Touch the area that you wish to stimulate and turn on the stimulation current, in order to find the right intensity level. Make sure that your hands are not touching, because otherwise the stimulation will not be transported to the skin.

The electrical impulses which are transmitted by the Magic Gloves are very soft, as the percentage of conductive material is much lower than e.g. in an aluminum toy.

The Magic Gloves can be hand washed with a mild detergent. Please do also use a disinfectant laundry additive on a regular basis. However please do not put the Gloves into the washing machine or the laundry dryer.

Barry Bite - Instructions & care

These bi-polar electro-conductive body clamps create a tingly, lustful pleasure at nipples, lips and various other body regions.

Thanks to the fact that every clamp is bi-polar always only the tissue in between of the two halves of the clamp is being stimulated. This means that you can stimulate both nipples at the same time, without any danger of leading electricity through the heart. Thanks to the small screw you can decide if you want our Barry to live up to his name and bite you, or if you prefer him to gently nibble on you instead. Moreover the gold contacts of Barry Bite enable an especially intense and continuous stimulation.

Please clean Barry Bite using mild soapy water and rinsing it with clear water. Please use additionally a disinfectant on a regular basis.
